Volunteers Needed at Hospital

An urgent call for volunteer workers at Harbor General Hospital went out this week following the initial meeting of the Harbor General Hospital Auxiliary at the home of Mrs. Marguerite MacAllister, head of Volunteer Services.

The charter meeting of the Auxiliary was held to determine in what manner many of the local women volunteers at the hospital could recruit new helpers for volunteer services.

"Volunteers actually devote little time, but the aid they give to doctors and nurses and the boost to patient morale at the hospital is immeasurably great," Elizabeth Harle, newly appointed president of the Auxiliary said. "Women volunteering to aid may put in as little as one hour per week and prove of great help."

Other Auxiliary Board members named to temporary positions last night were Helen Leichtwies, secretary; Donna Haag, membership chairman; Margaret Bucher, volunteer teaching chairman; Dorothy Kendall and Florence Pfister, Christmas decorations; Mary Esnozoa, office assistants chairman; and Juanita Gray, publicity chairman.

Anyone desiring to volunteer may telephone Mrs. MacAllister at the hospital.
